DEEP ROOTS. BOLD HORIZONS.

Take a walk on the wild side at the Abilene Zoo, authentically Abilene around every corner from Caribbean Cove to Elm Creek Backyard.

ABILENEVISITORS.COM

Abilene Zoo accredited by the Association of Zoos and Aquariums

Abilene represents the frontier spirit by honoring its heritage while embracing the future, right in the heart of the city. Its storied past inspires a newly renovated Downtown Cultural District filled with restaurants, shopping, urban parks, and a public art scene highlighted by an unrivaled collection of storybook sculptures. Named The Storybook Capital of America, the city blends deep-rooted community values with rich Texas traditions to create memorable experiences.

Founded by the T&P Railway in 1881, Abilene has become the epicenter of activity in the Texas Midwest. With three universities, an Air Force base, regional retail, and a full calendar of cultural events, it remains a community shaped by tradition yet built for today.

The DoubleTree by Hilton Abilene Downtown Convention Center anchors the revitalized streetscape, offering first-class hospitality amid landscaped walkways and decorative lighting. Pocket parks and pedestrian-friendly paths invite strolling, dining, shopping, and enjoying live music throughout the Downtown Cultural Arts District.

Albany

Home of the Hereford, a "Film Friendly Community", "Preserve America Community", and a TOP TEN True West Town by True West Magazine, Albany has a rich history of art, oil, ranching, community /military leaders, and hunting. As home of the Fort Griffin Fandangle, the oldest outdoor historical musical in Texas since 1938, several thousand visitors a year come to enjoy this historical production. The Texas Central Railway Co. passed through Albany carrying cattle, buffalo bones and passengers to various destinations. Tons of limestone were shipped to Houston from Albany to pave their streets in 1882. Visitors to the 1883 Shackelford County courthouse enjoy the Historic District, listed in the National Register. Weddings can be scheduled in the Gazebo on the 1883 courthouse lawn. The Old Jail Art Center contains Asian, pre-Columbian, contemporary, historical, world class exhibitions. The restored Aztec Theater is a perfect venue for plays performed periodically by the Albany Mainstreet Playhouse.

Baird

The county seat of Callahan County, Baird was established in 1880 as cattle drives moved across Texas. Small camp settlements sprang up along the trail and often turned into construction camps for building the west bound T&P Railroad. By that time, the railroad had arrived in northern markets from South Texas beginning in the 1870's. The town flourished through the turn of the century and the population diversified into agriculture and oil industries. The historic 1911 T&P Railway Passenger Depot, anchoring the south end of Market St. houses a Transportation Museum. On the north end is the 1929 Callahan County Courthouse. The 1898 County Jail is one of the oldest operating jails in the country. The Bankhead National Highway, from Washington, DC to San Diego, CA, was the nation's first all-weather coast-to-coast highway. Enthusiasts currently travel this historic highway which comes through Downtown Baird.

Ballinger

Nestled in the heart of West Texas, Ballinger is a small town with a big heart, where history and community pride go hand in hand. Founded in 1886, this town holds its origins in the expansion of the Santa Fe Railroad. Agriculture and Ranching emerged as the cornerstone of Ballinger's economy.

Historical landmarks like Andrew Carnegie Library and the Santa Fe Depot stand as proud reminders of the town's past, preserving its architectural charm. Beyond its history, Ballinger's true spirit lies in the pride and nostalgia of its people. Generations of families have called Ballinger home, contributing to a close-knit community that celebrates its traditions and cherishes its small-town values. In this town, community ties run deep, and whether it's a local parade, a festival, or a simple gathering at a family-owned restaurant, the sense of togetherness is palpable.

For many, Ballinger is a town where the past and present blend seamlessly. Ballinger may be small, but it's a place where memories are made, history is honored, and the pride of community endures, generation after generation. It really is the greatest little town in Texas!

Brady

Home is where the heart is, and the TRUE heart of Texas is McCulloch County - the geographic center of the state. When the area was settled in the 1870s, the community was named Brady City after Brady Creek, which runs through town. The name was shortened to Brady when the town was incorporated in 1906. Henry and Nancy Fulcher, the first settlers on Brady Creek, donated land for the town site in the mid-1870s. A post office opened in 1876. After residents of McCulloch County chose Brady as county seat on May 15, 1876, the town grew quickly. Brady had about fifty residents in 1877, and a stone courthouse was completed in 1878. Thomas Maples began weekly publication of the Brady Sentinel in 1880. By 1884, Brady had two churches, a district school, three stores, two hotels, and 300 residents. Today the community is a thriving business hub for the smaller surrounding communities. Whatever your pleasure, you're always welcome to hang your hat in the TRUE Heart of Texas!

Bronte

Located on U.S. Hwy 277 & State Hwy 158, in Coke County, at the edge of West Texas, Bronte is easy to find and worth discovering. The city was founded in the late 1880's and named for English novelist Charlotte Bronte. Oso & Bronco, were the town's original names, however, the US Postal Service, rejected Bronco to avoid confusion with another town. Fort Chadbourne, established in 1852, lies northeast of the city. Downtown features include the historic Santa Fe Depot and the Texas Theater. Antique shops, specialty shops and variety of other businesses line the main street. Good fishing is only 15 minutes. The area has an abundance of deer, quail, turkey and dove which provides excellent hunting. The County offers a public golf course, swimming pool, tennis courts, and baseball fields. Bronte offers wonderful local benefits, numerous attractions, recreation facilities and entertainment opportunities, making Bronte an ideal place to live and visit. Bronte City Hall, 114 South Washington, 325-473-3501 brontetx@wcc.net, www.brontetexas.org

Established on the western frontier in 1856 and formally organized in 1858, Brown County has a rich historical tapestry that reflects the resilience and entrepreneurial spirit of its residents. Brownwood, designated as the county seat, serves as the heart of this vibrant community. The region's growth was catalyzed by pivotal developments such as the arrival of the railroad, advancements in agriculture, and the discovery of oil, which collectively laid the foundation for a robust economy.

During World War II, Brownwood gained prominence as the site of Camp Bowie, recognized as the largest training facility in the nation and housing a German POW camp. Today, the legacy of Camp Bowie continues through its transformation into a National Guard training facility, supplemented by the establishment of an Industrial Park, Sports Complex, Aquatic Center, and Medical Complex.

Brownwood boasts an enduring economic vitality characterized by a relaxed lifestyle centered around family and community. For outdoor enthusiasts, it is a sportsman's paradise featuring excellent hunting opportunities and the scenic Lake Brownwood, which offers a plethora of recreational activities.

Culturally, Brownwood is alive with energy, hosting over 50 annual events that celebrate the arts, music, and local traditions. Festivals, performances, and art exhibits contribute to a vibrant community atmosphere that invites both residents and visitors to engage in the richness of local culture. Embrace the unique blend of history, community, and opportunity that Brown County has to offer where every day Feels Like Home.

Cisco

In 1919, Conrad Hilton came to Cisco with plans to buy a bank in the midst of the oil boom. At that time, hotel rooms were being rented in 8 hour shifts for fantastic prices. Seeing the opportunity for profit, he purchased the Mobley Hotel in the center of downtown Cisco establishing the first in the Hilton chain of hotels. This hotel is now a museum where visitors can read and see artifacts about the history of Cisco including information about Marshall Ratliff. On December 23, 1927, Marshall Ratliff, dressed as Santa Claus, robbed the First National Bank, one of Texas' most infamous crimes. In addition to these unique points of interest, visitors can enjoy hiking at the Old Zoo Nature Trails and Lake Cisco or venture downtown to find specialty shops, wineries and restaurants.

Clyde Clyde traces its roots to the expansion of the Texas & Pacific Railway, in 1880, through the Callahan Divide - between the Brazos and Colorado Rivers. Legend has it that the railroad construction crew gathered regularly at Robert Clyde's construction camp and supply tent, hence the area began to be commonly referred to as "Clyde's." The town was formally chartered on July 9, 1907. Situated above an aquifer, Clyde quickly earned the nickname "Little California" for its bountiful fruit and vegetable crops, which were shipped across Texas by rail. Fast-forward to today and Clyde is a town of 4,000 with a bustling economy prepared for exciting growth in the years to come. Clyde CISD is a TEA "Recognized" district with new schools, a new performing arts center, and a new football stadium. Clyde is a city that is both proud of its history and purposefully forging ahead. Festivals, parades, and events at the Public Library, City Plaza, City Park, and Clyde Lake all add to the quality of life for Clyde residents.

Coleman

The community had its origin in 1876 when R. J. Clow donated a 160-acre site on Hords Creek for a county seat. Located on the Western Trail, Coleman boomed as a supply and recreation center for trail drivers bound for Dodge City, Kansas. The town was named after the county, named for Sam Houston's aide Robert M. Coleman. Soon after the county was organized it had a courthouse in Coleman, built of lumber taken from elms found along Jim Ned Creek. The courthouse also housed bachelor quarters and a general store and was used for religious services and community gatherings. Raising cattle was the only real industry in the area late in the 19th century. The occasional visitor would experience sights of thousands of longhorns tended to by hardened cowboys as the herds roamed the open, rolling terrain. The needs of the ranchers and ranch hands spurred the development of businesses. Today, Coleman still takes pride in its ranching heritage. Additionally, the entire county credibly claims the best hunting and fishing in the entire area, if not the state.

Colorado City

In the early 1800's Comanche, Kiowa, Apache and Lipan Indians inhabited the area. Mitchell County was organized January 10, 1881 and the town of Colorado City was designated as the county seat. The T&P Railroad built their line to Colorado City making it West Texas' first boom town. The first train arrived in 1881. The first building was erected in 1880 by A.W. Dunn. The Rev. O.F. Rogers preached the town's first sermon in January 1881, in a saloon, with the bar and its accessories covered with wagon sheets. In the 1890's Col. Isaac Ellwood and J.F. Glidden, inventors of barbed wire, arrived. Ellwood later purchased the Renderbrook Ranch near Colorado City and established the "Spade" brand. Statistics cannot begin to tell the story of Colorado City, known as the "Mother City of West Texas."

Comanche

Discover one of Texas' most storied communities! Named after the Comanche Indians, the town of Comanche was founded in 1856 when John Dunan generously donated 240 acres on Indian Creek for the county seat. Comanche's passion for historic preservation is evident in its numerous downtown historical markers, including honors for the Dean of Texas Geology, Robert Thomas Hill. The town's rich past also intertwines with the notorious outlaw John Wesley Hardin and celebrates the legacy of Royal King, a Hall of Famer in the American Quarter Horse Association. Comanche boasts an array of shops, unique dining experiences, and exceptional trophy hunting. Outdoor enthusiasts will delight in the hiking trails and various water sports, with Lake Proctor offering one of the finest bass fisheries in the region. The town's vibrant agribusiness sector flourishes with abundant dairy and beef cattle, pecans, milk, and wine. For rodeo fans, Comanche is a prime destination, hosting thrilling events and opportunities to participate. Come explore Comanche, where history and modern-day charm blend to create an unforgettable experience!

Cross Plains

Cross Plains was named for the crossing of stagecoaches and military roads. Initially called Schleicher, Cross Plains was renamed and granted a post office in 1878. Early German settlers claimed this area to be as near paradise as one could imagine with open plains, native grass and abundant wildlife. Cross Plains has always been a farming and ranching center; however, in the 1920s it became an oil and gas production center and, today has a large trade territory offering numerous merchants, churches and restaurants. There is excellent dove, quail and white tail deer hunting. Robert E. Howard, creator of Conan the Barbarian and Kull the Conqueror, did most of his writing here. The Cross Plains Economic Development Corp, Chamber of Commerce, Project Pride and other local organizations are working to improve the economic well-being and provide a thriving future for the community.

De Leon

De Leon, Texas is a hidden gem destination for anyone wishing for a Texas small-town experience. Located on the Texas Forts Trail and the Penatuhkah Comanche Trail, De Leon is strategically positioned on Texas Hwy. 6 and 16, and centrally located to Dallas/Fort Worth, Abilene, Waco, and San Angelo. Home to one of the oldest festivals and tractor pulls in Texas, the Peach and Melon festival is held the first full week of August. Queen contests, carnival, food booths, parade, seed spitting contest and watermelon slicing are just a few activities to enjoy. Even though De Leon is considered a small town, big-time telecommunication services are available citywide. Totelcom, a locally owned telecommunications company, provides high-speed fiber internet service for residents and businesses within the city limits. The town slogan is "Busiest Town, Friendliest People" and is conveyed throughout the town. De Leon has a generous selection of dining/lodging options, two museums, and diversified shopping. Various town events occur throughout the year including Market Days the second Saturday of each month (excluding August for the festival events). De Leon is a must for anyone's bucket list and should be experienced at least once.

Dublin

By official state proclamations, Dublin is the Irish Capital of Texas. Dubliners debate if the town was named for the capital of Ireland, or perhaps in honor of rugged settlers who shouted out “double in the wagons” in case of an Indian raid, or perhaps for an early stagecoach stop call the Double Inn. About 1880, stagecoach service and Texas Central Railroad brought prosperity to the area. Cotton was king. Three of the community’s early businesses (Higginbotham’s, Dublin National Bank and Dublin Bottling Works) remain in operation today. The community boasts of three museums, restored Victorian and bungalow homes, numerous historical markers, three community parks, an 1882 grist mill, an 1855 log cabin and legends such as golf icon Ben Hogan and country singer Johnny Duncan.

Early

Located in central Brown County, Early is intersected by Highways 183, 67, 84 and 377. In 1928 a new school district, named after Walter U. Early, an attorney who donated land for several school buildings, was formed, and the Anderson, Ricker, Delaware, and Jenkins Spring schools consolidated with Early. In 1935, the Early community had six businesses, two churches and a school. Early, was later incorporated on December 7, 1951 when it had an estimated 600 inhabitants. A city hall was built in 1982, and a post office was opened in 1985. Today Early is a thriving community with 3,296 residents as of the 2020 Census and has the highest traffic count in Brown County. The city continues to grow at an impressive rate of almost 19% per year.

EASTLAND

Eastland was founded in 1891 by Jacamiah Daugherty, Charles Connellee and J.B. Ammerman. Eastland was named after William Mosby Eastland, a Texas Ranger and soldier who fought in the Texas Revolution.

The famed Bankhead Highway, built in the 1920s, passes through Eastland and is paved with bricks from Thurber, Texas.

Eastland is famous for Old Rip, a horned toad believed to have survived 31 years sealed inside the cornerstone of the county courthouse. In 1928, during a building demolition, the toad was reportedly found alive, sparking widespread fascination. Old Rip remains a local legend and symbol of Eastland. He is on display in a velvet-lined tiny casket in the courthouse window.

The Majestic THEATRE EST. 1925

The Majestic Theatre in Eastland, Texas, is a charming, historic cinema that has been delighting moviegoers since 1925. Renowned for its classic architecture and nostalgic ambiance, it continues to thrive as a community hub by showcasing first-run films today, offering a unique blend of old-world charm and modern entertainment.

Eden

Although many would think of a biblical reference, Eden was named for its founder Frederick Ede who moved to Concho County with his family around 1881. In February 1882, Ede designated forty acres of his land as a town site and donated land for the town square. When the post office was established in 1883, the community officially became known as Eden. The first school in the community opened in 1884-85 and by 1890 Eden had a church, general store, saloon, jeweler and a population of 107. The bank, which still stands today, opened in 1906 followed by the telephone service in 1907. Eden formally incorporated on February 4, 1911. As sheep ranching in the area increased after 1925, Eden became a trade center for wool and mohair. By 1940 the local ram sale was advertised nationwide. City of Eden, 325-869-2211, cityadmin@edentexas.com

Let's Meet At The Crossroads

Goldthwaite, the county seat of Mills County, sits at the top of the Texas Hill Country in the heart of Texas, along what is now part of the Penatuhkah Comanche Trail. Established in 1885 and named for Joe G. Goldthwaite with the arrival of the railroad, the community has weathered both challenge and change, including the burning of its courthouse in 1912 and its replacement the following year - a building that now stands beautiful and iconic, recently restored in 2009, to its original glory. The county's first school library opened in 1915, the same year construction began on nearby Lake Merritt, while surrounding communities such as Mullin - created when the Santa Fe track came through in the late 1880s - and Priddy, named for pioneer preacher and Texas Ranger Thomas Jefferson Priddy, grew alongside early German-settled ranches and homesteads. Today, Mills County is home to one of the last swinging bridges in Texas still open to motorized traffic, and Goldthwaite continues to thrive as a vibrant rural hub rooted in livestock and agriculture. With its stately courthouse, historic downtown, welcoming shops and authentic restaurants, Welcome Center, Legacy Plaza Pavilion and Gardens, the Goldthwaite Theatre, Museum, and Library, the community proudly celebrates its rich Texas heritage and welcomes you.

Gorman grew out of the earlier community of Shinoak and was renamed for Patrick Gorman, road master of the Texas Central Railroad in 1889. By 1904 Gorman had various stores, a hotel, a gin, a lumberyard, a canning factory, electric street lights, and a newspaper named the Gorman Ledger. Hankins College was located in Gorman from 1905 to 1912. During the Eastland County oil boom of 1917–22 Gorman became an important supply center, and its population grew, shooting past 20,000. Gorman had the first bank in Eastland County, its own power plant and the infamous Blackwell Sanatorium (aka Blackwell Hospital). The first peanut-shelling machine in Texas was used in Gorman in 1940, in 1986 Gorman had one of the most efficient shelling plants in the United States. The Texas Peanut Producers Board and the Southwest Peanut Growers' Assn. were headquartered in Gorman. Today, Gorman is a quiet little town, home to the Peanut Festival and Shin Oak BBQ cook-off every year on the second Saturday in September. Gorman Economic Development Corp, 254-734-2161

DISCONNECT To Reconnect

Graham has a rich history, beginning on the frontier with Fort Belknap in 1851. In 1869, brothers Gustavus A. and Edwin S. Graham arrived in North Texas, purchasing land and salt works on Salt Creek in 1871. The brothers drilled the first gas well in Texas, having stumbled upon it while drilling for salt water. Soon, the Grahams turned their attention to surveying the site of a new town. With a downtown square more than a mile in circumference and streets wide enough for a wagon to turn around, Graham, Texas, was established in 1872 and named the county seat of Young County in 1874. Graham was the birthplace of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in 1877 to fight cattle theft throughout the region. Visit Graham to experience authentic small-town charm, including shops and eateries, live music, murals, museums, historic sites, and The

Hamlin Perched on a wide prairie between two forks of the Brazos River, the town of Hamlin, incorporated in 1907, was born at the crossroads of three major and one short-gauge railway system.

In 1921 the school system adopted the mascot of the "Pied Piper" to give direction to the newly established football team; this unique mascot is the only one known of its kind in the U.S. for a public school's identity. Just as Robert Browning's Pied Piper enticed the children into the cave, many visitors find themselves unable to resist the lure and tranquility offered by this spirited city.

Hamlin has a proud past and a bright future. Our community strives to be a state and national model of rural revitalization. We work collaboratively with our community partners on infrastructure improvement, housing, business development, and other quality-of-life measures such as healthcare, parks, and a library.

Haskell, crossroads of the Texas Midwest on U.S. 277 & 380, 55 miles north of Abilene, this picturesque community is the hub of the Rolling Plains. The townsite, initially known as Willow Pond Springs and later as Rice Springs, was renamed Haskell in 1885 in honor of Charles Ready Haskell, a Texas Revolutionary soldier who died at Goliad. Buffalo, Indians, and cowboys all used the springs as a watering hole, and wild mustangs roamed freely west of Haskell on the Wild Horse Knob prairie. Incorporated in 1907, Haskell dominated regional trade and culture as the county seat. Barbeques and dances were annual events. In those early days a local saloon known as the Road to Ruin was also used for church services. Through the century, the town experienced both boom and bust cycles, but the indomitable spirit of the citizens always prevailed, and today Haskell is a thriving center of commerce and retail trade in the area. In recent years, the community has also seen notable growth in renewable energy and datacenter projects, further strengthening the local economy. Haskell is a great place to live and raise a family, and hunting and fishing are strong attractions in the area.

Settlers first arrived in the Jacksboro area in the mid-1850s, attracted by the offerings of the Texas Emigration and Land Office. Along the banks of Lost Creek, a small community of farmers took root and spread out over the pastureland between the river and the waters of the West Fork of Keechi Creek, south of the original settlement. As the distance from the original site increased and the number of buildings grew, the settlers began referring to the town taking shape as Mesquiteville. The town was chosen county seat in 1858 and renamed Jacksborough, or Jacksboro, in honor of William H. Jack and his brother Patrick, both veterans of the Texas Revolution. That year the first stagecoach arrived from the Butterfield Overland Mail; this service ran until early 1861. Today Jacksboro is a progressively growing community with native limestone downtown buildings built in the 1800s, eclectic shopping, great restaurants, beautiful scenery, a quiet lake, and nature trails. You'll enjoy your time spent in this friendly town.

- Fish
- Ride your horse.

Christmas Eve Tradition

In 1948 the Jacksboro Fire Department handed out the first version of Christmas Stockings. By 1957 they were handing out the same type of stocking that we hand out today. In 1957 they handed out 1500 at a cost of around $200 dollars. Today we hand out 3600 at a cost of just over $7000 dollars. They work hard to keep the Christmas Eve tradition alive with donations and fundraisers.

Municipal Airport 21F

Land near Jacksboro Twin Lakes and enjoy taking a break in the pilot lounge and fueling up onsite. The courtesy car is available for a trip into town. Great for grabbing a meal, shopping or visiting the museum or fort.

On State highways 6 and 222, Farm Road 143, and the Santa Fe Railroad, in a region known as Knox Prairie in southwest Knox County, was founded in anticipation of the arrival of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railway, which began service in 1906. Originally the town was named Orient for the railroad. R. W. Warren and others donated land for a townsite, and Warren also built the first cotton gin in 1905. The town gained banks in 1905–06, a grain elevator before 1920, and other businesses, as well as a school and churches. It received electricity in 1916, natural gas in 1924, and city water and sewer service in 1922. The population was 1,127 in 1940, 1,488 in 1950, 1,805 in 1960, and 1,536 in 1970, when the town had fifty-five businesses. The state's first seed-testing plant started in Knox City in 1965. Fires did much damage before the public water supply was developed, particularly in 1911 and 1919. Worse yet was a tornado in March 1953 that struck the county hospital and other buildings. Losses included four deaths and damage to fifty homes. Knox City is a center for agribusiness and petroleum.

Menard

A new county named for Michel Branamour Menard (the founder of Galveston), was formed from part of Bexar County in 1858, and the county seat was a new town called Menardville, near the site of the old presidio. Threats of civil war interrupted in the new county's growth, and Indian attacks increased dramatically after Federal soldiers were withdrawn from Fort McKavett in 1859. Menardville became the major commercial center for the area ranches and an overnight stop of several of the north and west cattle drive trails include the Great Western Trail to Dodge City, Kansas. The arrival of the railroad in 1911 turned Menard into a boomtown (the name was shortened around that time). Through many historical events and challenges of Nature, citizens of Menard have embraced the times and celebrate them today. The remarkable history of Menard is worth exploring. Come visit and see for yourself.

Founded in the early 1880s when the T&P Railway arrived. Known as the "Windmill Town" the community was a shipping point like many other towns in the area. It was renamed in 1881 for its first settler, S. M. Merkel. The population was 25 in 1885 and 400 in 1890, when the town had 4 churches and a school. The first school, conducted in the train depot, was taught by Mrs. A. M. Thornton; 7 children enrolled. In June of 1906 Merkel incorporated. The town had only 17 mayors in the 75 years following incorporation; Henry West held the office for 11 terms at 4 different times. In November 1904 the Farmers and Merchants National Bank was organized. Farming and ranching were the primary economic factors in Merkel's early development. Though agriculture continues to play a significant role in the town's economic health, residents also rely on oil-production jobs and military-support jobs at Dyess Air Force Base. The most recent developments for Merkel are retail stores and a medical clinic.

Mineral Wells

Well, Well, Well.

Welcome to Mineral Wells, the official Wellness Capital of Texas. Be Well. Stay Well. Connect Well.

In Mineral Wells, the water's still healing, the air's still clear, and life still moves at a pace that lets you breathe again. With three State Parks in Palo Pinto County and a downtown area full of warmth, art, and good coffee, it's not just a place to visit: it's a place to feel better.

Be Well - Rejuvenate in mineral baths, sippin' "crazy water", or breathing in fresh trail air.

Stay Well - Boutique hotels and cozy cabins welcome you home.

Connect Well - Trade screens for sunsets, mindfulness and memories.

A Town Steeped in Wellness

Mineral Wells earned its name (and its fame) from the "crazy" mineral waters discovered in the 1880s. Travelers came from across the country seeking health and healing in its bubbling wells, giving rise to a legendary spa and wellness era that defined the town for generations.

At the height of that golden age, The Baker Hotel became a symbol of luxury and rejuvenation. Soon, it will once again open its doors, restoring an icon and rekindling the spirit that made Mineral Wells famous.

Today, that wellness heritage is alive and thriving, from holistic spas and yoga studios to hiking trails, boutique shopping, and live music downtown. Mineral Wells has been named "Best Small Spa & Wellness Town in America" by Travel + Leisure, and the title fits like a glove.

Just an hour west of the DFW Metroplex, Mineral Wells offers space to breathe, create, and grow, a place where you can truly Be Well, Stay Well, Connect Well, Work Well, Live Well, Dine Well, Shop Well and... well... you get it.

Plan WELL for your next getaway at VisitMineralWells.org

- The Outfitters of Palo Pinto County - Your go-to for outdoor gear, apparel, and local adventure essentials. It's everything you need to hit the trail or the lake.

Munday

The community dates from 1893, when a store was built at the site. Originally known as Maud, it was renamed for postmaster R.P. Munday when the first post office was established in 1894. In 1903, West Munday merchants - separated by a thousand yards from East Munday - moved their buildings to the east. The Wichita Valley Railroad arrived in 1906, the same year that the community incorporated. With 968 residents in 1910, Munday was easily the largest town in Knox County. By 1950, the population reached 2,270. The population slowly decreased throughout the latter half of the twentieth century. Today it is a community with excellent public schools and a number of local amenities for residents and visitors to the community. Farming and ranching are the main industries. The Munday Industrial Development Corporation is eager to help in relocation, expansion and new business start-ups. Be sure to visit our little town on the prairie. City Hall, 940-422-4331,

DISCOVER RANGER!

In the 1920s, Ranger was an Oil Boomtown. It is a community that embraces its history, from the Ranger Antique Airfield which hosted Amelia Earhart to the Historic Bankhead Highway. This rural, west Texas town is a WONDERFUL place to visit during our city's celebrations, which includes Roaring Ranger Days and the Annual Airshow. It is a great place to live, start a business, or simply enjoy the slower pace of small town America.

history began in a luxurious valley, approximately two miles north east of the present town site. This was Ranger Camp Valley, so named because the Texas Rangers set up camp before 1870 and prior to the coming of the Texas & Pacific Railroad through Eastland County in 1880. Then came the famous day in October 1917 when the oil gushed from the McCleskey No. 1. Word spread like wildfire and the oil boom began. Ranger was changed overnight from a sleepy town of several hundred to a thriving city of over 30,000. The oil boom, known as "the boom that won the war" (WWI), earned Ranger the reputation of "the city of flowing gold". For a relaxing visit or to pursue a permanent lifestyle Ranger has lots to offer.

In 1874 seven families moving westward in search of their dreams found this area ideal for raising their children and crops. The unique name of the town came much later as the population grew and a mail route was being established. The settlers convened to find a suitable name. After deliberation throughout the night without success, they became aware of the morning star twinkling in the sky. The revelation led to the decision to adopt the name "RISING STAR". Today Rising Star offers small town living in a beautiful valley. Hugh oak, pecan, cottonwood & mesquite trees hint of the diversification of the soil & climate. The farming community produces wheat, oats, watermelon, cantaloupe, peaches, pecans & beautiful hay fields. Four lakes within a few minutes drive offer fishing, swimming, boating and camping. The town is well known for its greenhouse, vineyard, livestock equipment, golf course & Open Air Market.

ROBERT LEE

A QUIET HOME BY THE LAKE | FISHING, NATURE, AND SMALL TOWN CHARM AT ITS BEST.

Located along the northern edge of the Edwards Plateau in the Colorado River Valley, Robert Lee's story is steeped in Native heritage and frontier history. The area once served as a refuge for the Comanche, Lipan Apache, and Jumano peoples before ranchers and settlers arrived amid the turmoil of the range wars. A fragment of burned barbed wire preserved in the Old Jail stands as a testament to that era. Two former soldiers who had served under General Robert E. Lee later established the town in his name, which won the county seat in 1891. In 1958, the Colorado River was dammed to create Lake E.V. Spence, which continues to draw anglers, campers, and outdoor enthusiasts to Robert Lee's peaceful landscape.

Santa Anna

The twin mesas in Santa Anna were a landmark to early surveyors and settlers. One of the earliest maps of Texas shows mesas with the notation "Santa Anna's Peaks". The mountain and later the town were named for the Penatuhkah Comanche Chief Santa Anna, in Comanche, Pia Kusa. It's thought that the Comanche used the peaks both for smoke signaling and training warriors. Texas Rangers camping in the area used them as an observation post before the town was settled. With the Santa Fe Railroad coming in 1886 and the sale of a 200 acre tract of railroad land for town lots, Santa Anna began to grow rapidly. Among prominent early residents was John Riley Bannister, a Texas Ranger and county sheriff. His wife, Emma, became the first woman sheriff in Texas when she finished her husband's term after his death. Visitors to the town now can find ample ways to pass the time: stores offer custom-made mesquite wood items, Texas craft items, and antiques. There are several restaurants to grab a tasty bite. The Santa Anna area also offer quality hunting. Take your pick from dove, deer, turkey, quail, and feral hogs, wither through a hunting lease or day hunting. Plans are ongoing to make Santa Anna a significant stop for both recreational and heritage tourism. Santa Anna EDC, 325-348-3177, saedc@web-access.net, www.santaannatxchamber.com

Seymour

Seymour's town site was settled in 1874 and incorporated in 1879. The community was settled by pioneers from Oregon who called the place Oregon City. When its post office was established in 1879, the name was changed to Seymour, reportedly for Seymour Munday, a local cowboy. The early days were lively because of conflicts between cowboys and settlers, which culminated in the killing of county judge in 1880. Seymour boomed after citizens raised $50,000 to encourage construction of the Wichita Valley line through the area in 1890; when the railroad built through, most residents of nearby Round Timbers moved to Seymour. The town grew again after the discovery of oil in the county in 1906. The 1890 railroad boom had been short-lived and the town corporation, organized in 1890, was dissolved in 1892 due to inability to meet obligations. With its economic revival in 1906, Seymour once again incorporated. A Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo has been held annually since 1896; thus making it the oldest continuously held rodeo reunion in Texas. City of Seymour, 940-889-0030, lbush@cityofseymour.org

Stamford was founded in 1900 along the Texas Central Railroad on 640 acres of land donated by the sons of Swante Magnus Swenson who owned the town site and surrounding area as a part of the Swenson Ranch. The town was named after Stamford, Connecticut, the hometown of H. McHarg, who was the president of the railroad at the time. Today, Stamford is home of over 3,000 people and boasts a thriving economy that includes agriculture, natural resources, and a variety of professional service businesses. Stamford is also home to the Texas Cowboy Reunion, a rodeo hosted every year around the Fourth of July. Stamford is a member of the Texas Forts Trail and is home to almost 30 registered historical sites. Other attractions include one of the few remaining operating Carnegie Libraries, a 9-hole golf course, municipal airport Arledge Field and a large fishing and boating lake. Development Corporation of Stamford, 107 E. Strawn was one of several towns developed in the early 1880s when the T&P Railway began service in the area. The town was laid out on the land of two early ranchers, S.B. Strawn and J.N. Stuart. Stuart built the first house in 1875 which, along with Strawn's the Coal Boom and then the Oil Boom. Immigrants from Italy, Poland, Mexico, Austria/ Hungary, Germany and many other countries were brought in to work in mines creating a diverse melting pot of nationalities and religions. The mines produced 1.6 million tons between 1910 and 1920; most of which was sold to railroads. For outdoor enthusiasts several popular lakes, including beautiful Possum Kingdom, are less than a 30- minute drive away, as is public access to the Brazos River. Just four short miles due west out of Strawn, the Palo Pinto Mountains State Park, Texas's newest State Park, is set to open in 2026. Covering just under 4871 acres. the park will feature 16 miles of multi-use trails, a newly built, fishing pier, a pavilion that overlooks one of the many spectacular canyons, playgrounds, along with hike-in and primitive camping spots, 10 equestrian campsites and twenty-five RV sites. The park will also feature an ADA accessible kayak ramp and all-terrain wheelchairs designed specifically for physically challenged folks who want to enjoy the various trails throughout the park.

Sweetwater

Sweetwater, established in the 1870's, was a Trading Post with the name derived from "Mobeetie", the Kiowa word for "sweet water" to describe the water in a nearby creek. There is no indication that Sweetwater was an unruly community in early days. However, the most celebrated occasion of violence occurred because Sweetwater lacked a bank. It was rumored the saloon often held up to $20,000 in cash deposits left by residents. In February 1883, there was a raid on the saloon that resulted in the murder of the owners and the wounding of a bystander. Eleven of the seventeen murder indictments returned in 1881-83 arose from this saloon robbery attempt. The next month Thomas Trammell and others established a bank. Moving forward in time, the Army Air Force used Sweetwater's airfield for training during World War II. In 1943 the Women's Air Force Service Pilots (WASP) were trained there. Today Sweetwater is home of Avenger Field, where the National WASP WWII Museum is located along with a memorial to these daring ladies. Chamber of Commerce, 810 E. The City of Tye is located in Taylor County at the intersection of Interstate 20 and Farm-to-Market Road 707, just west of Abilene and north of Dyess Air Force Base. The community was laid out by the Texas and Pacific Railway in 1881 and originally named Tebo. In 1901, the community name was changed to Tye, in honor of John P. Tye, who served as the first Postmaster and as a Methodist Minister. During World War II, the Tye Air Field was built just south of the community for the Army Air Corps; the field also briefly served as Abilene’s airport. In 1953 work began to restore and enlarge the field, and it was reactivated as Dyess Air Force Base. As the base and nearby Abilene grew in the 1950s, Tye also continued to expand. It incorporated in 1954. Today, the City of Tye boasts a population of over 1,200 residents and over 50 businesses. As it was in the 1980’s, trucking is still a major sector of the local economy. More recently, several new restaurants and businesses have made the City of Tye their home. Tye offers its residents a peaceful, family-friendly atmosphere where people can enjoy the amenities of small-town life.

WELCOME TO WINTERS

Winters

HOME OF THE BLIZZARDS!
www.wintersisd.org

Located on U.S. Highway 83, in north-central Runnels County. The city gets its name from John N. Winters, a local rancher and land agent, at its founding in 1889. The birthplace of baseball Hall-of-Famer Rogers Hornsby, Winters is popular with visitors for its unique history and recreation opportunities. The Elm Creek Reservoir is owned and operated by the city and attracts visitors from all over for its affordable RV and primitive camping spots. Downtown Winters hosts many attractions, including the Z. I. Hale Museum and the Winters Public Library, both historic landmarks. While Winters is home of the Blizzards, no one is left out in the cold thanks to the new Cobblestone Inns and Suites, located at the intersection of U.S. 83 and Texas 153. For more information, visit the Winters City Hall at 310 S. Comanche Tree Marker

The Penatuhkah Comanche Trails Partnership is a coalition of Chambers of Commerce, Visitors Bureaus, historical non-profits, the Comanche Nation of Oklahoma, and private landowners in the area. This Central Texas association plans to develop a landscape conservation plan to protect and interpret the traditional lands and resources of the Penatuhkah Band of the Comanche people as well as promote heritage tourism in the region.

The Penatuhkah Comanche Trails Partnership encompasses approximately 15,000 square miles in the heart of Texas. This area coincides with the homeland of the Penatuhkah band of the Comanche Nation from about 1750 to 1875. The views, ecology, heritage, and history of this area sacred to the southern Comanche lend it tremendous potential to provide tourism opportunities for Texans seeking to learn of the extent of the great Comanche Empire.

TOGETHER FOR A
Century of Care

THROUGH THE YEARS...

Hendrick Health's flagship hospital opened on September 15, 1924, then known as West Texas Baptist Sanitarium. That afternoon, thousands lined up to tour the five-story facility in north Abilene staffed by doctors and nurses offering "some of the best medical equipment of the era."

From the beginning, Hendrick board members were committed to operating a healthcare facility that equaled Dallas-Fort Worth in terms of equipment, services and skilled staff. Thus, allowing patients to stay in their community for their medical needs.

A century later, Hendrick Health continues as a nonprofit, faith-based organization guided by a local, volunteer board. Providing the strength of a complete health system, Hendrick offers innovative treatments and preventive care that include heart and stroke care, neurology and neurosurgery, neonatal and pediatric intensive care, orthopedics, women's health and cancer services.

The original hospital building remains, but newer wings and towers have grown around it to meet the region's needs. Our legacy continues as we embark on the next century of providing high quality healthcare to the communities we serve.
